WALL STREET CRASH!

Black Thursday in America

Stocks Plunge and Eleven
Commit Suicide

Prices falling for the first time since 1927, when they reached a record of 17 million shares, changed hands in just one day.

Many of the leading members of the stock exchange, including those of the New York Stock Exchange, committed suicide.

In the afternoon market crash, the market broke down in the face of a sudden reversal of the stock market. Prices were forced to go down and the value of some companies fell to a low level.
